In memory of her mother, Ethel Donovan, Pat Stansell has donated In This Moment by Karen Kingsbury. Pat chose this book in honor of Mrs. Donovan's enjoyment of Karen Kingsbury's books, especially those about the Baxter family. This Baxter family story revolves around a high school principal and religious freedom. Our library has two shelves full of these inspirational novels because of Pat's contributions. Thank you, Pat!

We also thank the Perry family for contributing over 60 great youth books to our library. The collection includes classics, a number of fun series, and much more. Our middle school readers are very excited about these additions. For the younger children who are learning to read, Carol, Olivia, and Elizabeth have included books for them too. Our collection is certainly enhanced by this generous gift.

Another recent and thoughtful contributor is Ginny, Chad and Kelly Graham's daughter. Ginny donated Crenshaw, a New York Times bestseller that is worthy of its honor. Thank you, Ginny, for your kind gift and for all the hugs you share with us. This book will be popular in our library.

Carolyn Darden, Elva Ann Hales, and Hugh Wease have shared their good books with us frequently. Many of you have shared your books with our library, and we appreciate every single contribution and every donor. Thank you!

Besides these contributions, look for the most recent inspiring best sellers being added. The library has something for you! Come "check it out" this week. It's always open.
